

Report from Alastair Struthers, Urban Projects Co-ordinator.

Scotia Homes and Stewart Milne Homes held a workshop over the week commencing 20th September in the Altens Community Centre, building on the work started by the Prince's Foundation for the Built Environment in 2008 during the Charette workshop.

Architects Urban Design Associates constructed a 3D model which they refined during the week after meeting with the public and various council bodies.

During the course of the three days they saw over 150 people, a great turn out, and had some excellent debate relating to the key themes, roads, green space network, architecture, waste management/contamination and planning gain.

The developers will be releasing a full update within two weeks which will be widely available on Scotia's website, scotia-homes.co.uk.
